

HALF | TIME™ Carolinas

In Person Roundtable Charlotte - Raleigh

Many people reach a season of life, having achieved some measure of success, when they wonder, “What’s next? What would give my life more meaning, joy and balance?”

Halftime Carolinas has been serving seasoned leaders in the region for over 15 years, helping them plan for a meaningful and impactful second half of life. Halftime is a time-out. A pause to reflect on what you’ve accomplished, who you’ve become, and what will matter most to you in the next season

Limited to a small group of peers, the Halftime Carolinas Roundtable will enable you to gain clarity about who you are and what you want, and build a roadmap for your next season, with the insights and accountability of peers and one-on-one coaching.

The Halftime Roundtable experience will help you answer questions like:

- > What is my purpose or calling?
- > What will give my second half more meaning, joy and balance?
- > How can I best include my spouse and family in this journey, in a way that enables them to thrive in our next season?
- > How can I create the time margin and financial strategy to have the freedom to make a difference in the areas I’m passionate about?
- > How can my unique strengths and expertise best contribute – what kinds of organizations and roles? How can I test that out?
- > Are there creative ways that my current business or organization could be a platform for living out this emerging mission statement?

HALF | TIME[™] Carolinas

In Person Roundtable Charlotte - Raleigh

The Roundtable includes:

- > 9 half-day meetings over the course of one year
- > Required reading: Halftime, From Success to Significance, Finishing Well, The Second Half, Halftime for Couples
- > The Gallup CliftonStrengths Self-Assessment
- > Member Guide / Journal
- > Actionable Roadmaps and Custom Templates for each stage of the journey
- > One-on-one coaching between meetings
- > A couples' dinner / evening is designed to include your spouse (if you're married) in this journey and help build alignment as you create a plan together for a meaningful next season
- > Networking to a variety of "low-cost probe" serving opportunities that match up with your dreams, interests and skills – locally, nationally and internationally
- > Tuition for the Roundtable is $6,000. [Please note that a portion of the tuition will be considered tax deductible.]

Watch an Alumni testimonial

To learn more, email Marcus.Hall@HalftimeRT.com

Halftime Carolinas is a local non-profit. Our ministry and the Roundtable experience are 100% focused on helping you understand yourself better, hear from God more clearly, and find ways to plug into the "good works God has planned in advance for you." (Ephesians 2:10)